Eco-friendly cooling

Using R290 refrigerant, a highly sustainable solution that enhances energy efficiency while reducing environmental impact

Lower energy costs

Variable speed compressors that adjust to demand, avoiding peak loads and reducing running costs

Optimised performance

Semi-automatic defrost prevents excessive ice build-up, improving efficiency and minimising maintenance effort

Future-ready innovation

Next-generation cooling technology to support sustainability, cost-effectiveness and long-term reliability

Cutting South Africa's Carbon Footprint with R290

Over 10 years, natural-gas refrigeration has helped reduce CO₂ emissions by 161 783 tons.

Equivalent to 4,600 medium-sized cars, each driving 200,000 km

Delivering up to 50% lower energy use than HFC-based systems

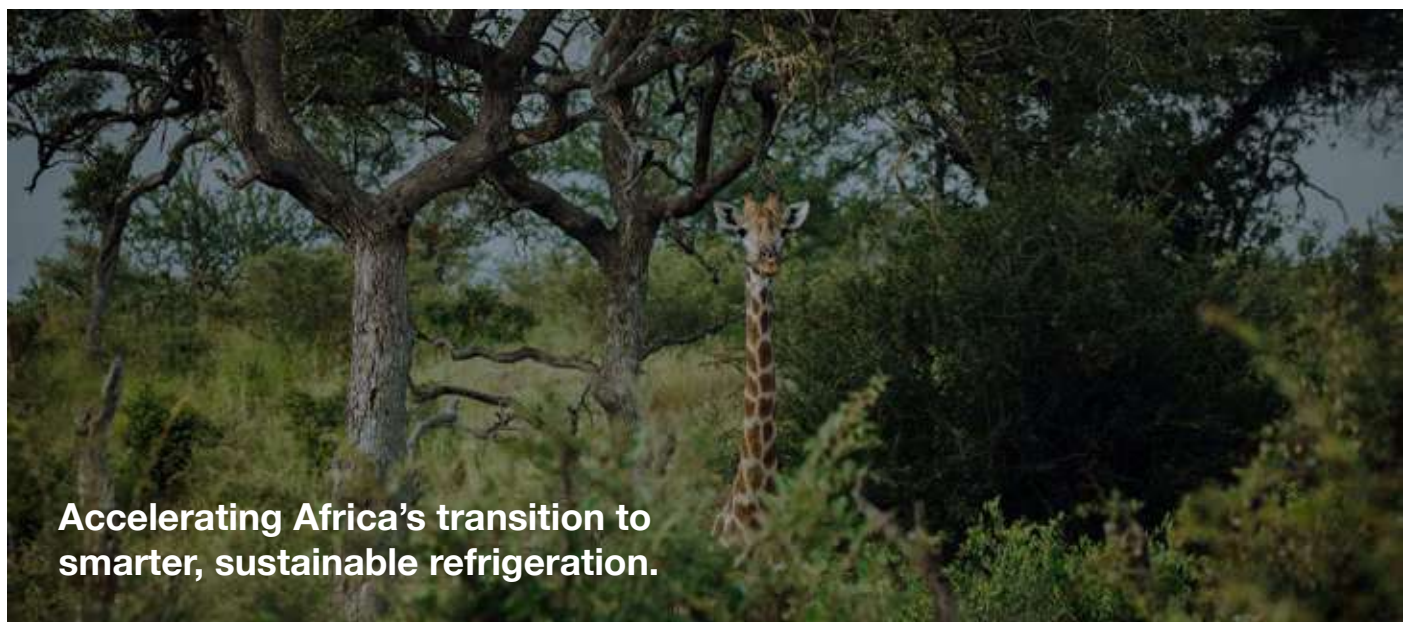

Generating only 6t CO₂ eq compared to 161 783 t for HFC (R404A)

Having a GWP of 0.02 to 3, R290 offers over 99% lower greenhouse-gas impact than HFC alternatives

Figures are continually rising as R290 adoption expands

Accelerating Africa's transition to smarter, sustainable refrigeration.

Trusted for Innovation, Quality and Commitment

Multilayer was established in 2009 to bring high-quality, energy-efficient refrigeration to the South African market.

Today, the business remains proudly family-run, with over 40,000 units in operation across Africa. We were the first to introduce natural gas freezers at scale in South Africa, helping shift the industry toward smarter, more sustainable solutions.

Through close partnerships, we deliver end-to-end solutions that reduce energy costs, minimise maintenance and ensure long-term reliability.
